Healthy Honey

Published: Wednesday, December 01, 2010

New to the UK market, Bounty of Nature is passionate about honey – only sourcing the specialist ingredient from ethical, quality producers around the world. The company has spent many hours, days and years locating the best honey-makers in the business, allowing consumers to enjoy incredibly nutritional and health-giving honey.

Its Euphoria Longana Honey, Honey with Royal Jelly and Honey with Propolis are all new to UK consumers and are free from additives, preservatives and sweeteners. The products are also made from 100% pure honey and boast unique, health-giving properties.

Bounty of Nature's Euphoria Longana Honey is harvested from the beautiful tropical flora jungles high in the mountains of Thailand's Northwest region of Chiang Mai, and can be used to nourish the skin, reduce tiredness and boost energy levels.

The Honey With Royal Jelly is enhanced with 5% fresh Royal Jelly – a creamy white compound made by the worker bees – and is commonly known to promote vitality and stamina.

Finally, the company's Honey with Propolis is enhanced with 5% Brazillian Green Propolis extract – a substance that bees collect from various trees and shrubs to seal the walls of their hive. The product improves the immune system by selectively destroying only harmful bacteria and is shown to promote a healthy heart.
